FLOOD DAMAGES SEVERAL HARTSELLE STORES

Davis Heads East Today Very Much Encouraged

REPUBLICAN'S TAX THEORY DECLARED TOLL GATE SYSTEM

Ringing Speech at Gary Delivered to Large Open Air Crowd

TWO ADDRESSES FOR SATURDAY

Will Speak at Baseball Park at South Bend During Afternoon

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate for president, was ready today to follow up his campaign in Indiana, opened last night in a ringing speech at Gary, where he declared anew for "principles of human equality, personal liberty and popular sovereignty" and pledged his party to do battle "in every state in the union" in assaults against "privilege in government."

Under a schedule calling for departure early this afternoon from Chicago, Mr. Davis will make two addresses at South Bend, one at luncheon at noon, another at the baseball park in the afternoon and one address tonight at Fort Wayne.

This also will be an open air affair. Leaving Fort Wayne tonight, he is evening. With his personal headquarters there as a base, he will conduct a whirlwind campaign in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, Delaware and Maryland before again heading westward.

Early in October he will speak in West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Southern Illinois, Missouri and perhaps in Oklahoma, Kansas and Michigan.

In his Gary address Mr. Davis discussed taxation with particular reference to the tariff from the viewpoint, he said, of the three major theories underlying all taxation, the Republican, the socialistic and the Democratic.

Using a figure of speech to guide home his argument, Mr. Davis said the Republican theory was analogous to a toll gate system, under which the proceeds of taxation were devoted primarily to the comfort and well being of those riding in limousines.

Underlying this theory, he added, was the belief that if the limousine owner was cared for, all the pedestrians and those riding in less expensive cars eventually would be benefitted by the resultant era of prosperity.

Socialistic doctrine, the candidate said, proposed a system of taxation devised with a view that all should ride in limousines, through government control of the economic factors of life.

If that theory prevailed, he argued the man who placed the people in their seats in the limousine would be the spot controlling destinies of all.

Both theories are unsound, he declared, in that they omit human nature as the important factor in life.

The democratic theory, he described as one that shaped the whole burden of taxation with regard to the backs that are to bear it and the fundamental purposes of government must be equal rights to all, high or low, and special privilege to none.

Dr. Hunter stated he heard of destruction caused and saw where a number of telephone poles had been blown down.

Career Denied, She Seeks Death

When May Hoffman came to New York from Saylorsburg, Pa., she was going to prove to the world that she would be a great actress, and quickly, May was eighteen. When she found out that the great city is most critical and that there are a great number of young women wanting to be great actresses, she swallowed poison. She will not die. She was sent home to Tom Frankendorf, who says he will marry her.

GINNINGS ARE UP TO THE '23 RECORD

Cotton ginning in Morgan County up until September 20 is about the same as to the number of bales ginned as at this time last year.

The grade of cotton is fully up to the standard of last year, according to prominent ginner.

Carl D. Patterson, who now owns the Bernstein Ginn company here and who operates it, stated that he found some increase in business over, reports made him at this time last year. Fred S. Hunt, manager of the Home Oil mill, which concern operated a number of gins, stated that his reports showed about the same amount of cotton ginned to date as last year. Mr. Hunt stated that only from such sections as have had plenty of rain, was stated that only from such sections as have had plenty of rain, was the cotton ready to pick. He said that it appeared that on the whole North Alabama ginnings were not quite so numerous as last year. Mr. Hunt, stated that through the ginner's association he had official reports showing that in South Alabama, the cotton crop was already half ginned.

MAN AND WOMAN ARE INDICTED FOR SKELETON MURDER

Bennetts Are Accused By the Hamilton Grand Jurors

WORKERS FOUND WOMAN'S BONES

Bennetts Maintained Their Aunt Left For Washington

(Associated Press)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bennett, of Rome, Ga., were indicted by the Hamilton County grand jury here this morning for the murder of Miss Augusta Hoffman.

Miss Hoffman was a modiste whose skeleton is alleged to have been found under the floor of the home occupied by the Bennetts here several months ago.

Miss Hoffman, aunt of the Bennetts, with whom she made her home most of the time, disappeared in 1915 after it was said she had withdrawn a considerable sum of money from the bank. No trace was heard of her until a few months ago when workmen repairing the house at No. 15 Bluff View, a fashionable residential section, discovered the bones of a woman, clothing, eye glasses, false teeth and shoes which answer the description given of the missing woman and her effects.

The Bennetts maintained that Miss Hoffman had gone to Washington, D. C. with the intention of marrying and that they never heard of her afterwards.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL IS OUTLINED

Mr. Almon is expected to complete his organization soon, naming campaign chairmen for the different localities in Morgan county. This county's quota for this year is $500, stated Chairman Rahm, of the publicity committee.

Pilgrim Knights In Session Here

Early Saturday, pilgrims, members of the "Pilgrim Knights of Oriental Splendor" began to pour into the Twin Cities from Birmingham and other points in Alabama to the south and from Ardmore and points in Tennessee to the north, the occasion being a celebration held at Malone park in the early afternoon and a meeting late in the afternoon at Odd Fellows hall in Decatur, when a large number of new members were to be initiated into the mysteries of the "Knights of Oriental Splendor" which is an auxiliary body of the Alabama Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The most attractive delegation came from the Birmingham Festival Temple of the order. Many of that company were skilled musicians and played patriotic airs in the morning parade which passed over the principal streets of the Twin Cities.

CLOSE OBSERVANCE OF CONSTITUTION IS URGED BY GOODWIN

Pastor Is the Principal Speaker During Exercises

DECATUR SCHOOLS HAVE PROGRAM

Outlines the Struggles Of the Makers Of Constitution

Dr. L. F. Goodwin, of the Westminster Presbyterian church was the principal speaker at the "Constitution Day" exercises, held at the Decatur high school. The occasion proved to be an enjoyable one, with the students taking much interest in the address of Dr. Goodwin.

Superintendent W. W. Benson of the Decatur schools presided and following preliminary exercises introduced Dr. James D. Wallace pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who gave the invocation.

Following his introduction, Dr. Goodwin, first outlined the struggle preceding the final ratification of the constitution by two thirds of the original 13 colonies. It was shown that it took years to get the constitution accepted as having authority.

The wisdom of the makers of the constitution was lauded by the speaker and references were made to the opinions of great men of the past, as touching the federal constitution. Dr. Goodwin dwelt upon the wisdom of the revolutionary fathers in providing for amendments to the constitution, saying that nearly twenty amendments to had been adopted.

The speaker made special reference to the 18th, or prohibition amendment, claiming that its provisions, when carried out to the letter and in the right spirit meant a great moral up-lift for the American nation.

The importance of observance of laws, from city ordinances, to the international laws, was stressed by Dr. Goodwin.

BEAUTIFUL PARADE OF GROTTO'S CORPS THRILL TWIN CITIES

Birmingham Delegation Arrives Here On A Special Train

SPEAKERS STRESS CLUB PRINCIPLES

Heavy Rain Starts Just As Barbecue Ends at Malone Park

Guests and hosts of the Albany-Decatur Grotto club, variously estimated at from 800 to 1,000 in number who gathered here Friday afternoon for a celebration of past successes of the Kam Ram Grotto of Birmingham, which body includes the local Grotto club and many others, separated at 8:20 o'clock Friday night when a large contingent of the company left on a southbound train for Birmingham.

The heavy rain of the evening, had just begun when the barbecue feast at Malone park was completed, and the people had to move away rapidly to shelter from the storm.

Principal Address By Chief Justice

The speaking of the occasion preceded the feast. The master of ceremonies was Seneca Burr, prominent local Mason and a leader in the Albany-Decatur Grotto club. Mr. Burr introduced the speakers. The principal address of the evening was by Chief Justice J. C. Puckett of Birmingham. The head of the legal department of the Alabama Kam Ram Grotto.

Justice Puckett's address was a clear and forceful statement of the aims and purposes of the Grotto clubs of the state. This speaker also stated the principles upon which the Grotto is founded which were shown to be similar to the principles of the Masonic fraternity.

Others speakers introduced by Mr. Burr were Monarch J. L. Hagy of Birmingham, ranking officer of the Kam Ram Grotto; Prophet Brawley of Birmingham and Grand Secretary H. B. Kirby of Birmingham Grotto.

Among the prominent out of town visitors, in addition to the large numbers from Birmingham were F. P. Pelter, General Manager Norfolk and Western Railroad; L. H. Woodall, Superintendent Memphis division, Southern Railway; L. Ennis, Master of trains Southern Railway and George Jenkins, road master Southern Railway.

Parade Is Beautiful
Citizens generally as well as members of the Grotto clubs gathered for Friday's celebration greatly enjoyed the occasion, especially the music dispensed by the splendid bands from Birmingham and the attractive parade which started just after the northbound Louisville and Nashville train No. 2 arrived.

The parade started at the Albany depot of the Louisville and Nashville railroad and passed over Second avenue, to Decatur over Bank street and return to the Malone amusement park on Moulton street, Albany. James A. Nelson, mayor of Decatur, and Joseph D. Bell, chief of police of Albany, led the parade each mounted on a beautiful horse.

All the other paraders proceeded on foot, led by the Birmingham bands as their members played inspiring music. The precision with which the men marched and the appearance of their uniforms proved very attractive. A special attraction of the parade was a large shining black ram. The animal marched near the head of the long procession and seemed to be enjoying himself greatly.

By request, some special drills were arranged by the visiting marchers, but they were interfered with by the threatening weather soon after night fall.

BEFRIENDS CONVICT WHO TAKES HER LIFE

(Associated Press)

PASADENA, Cal., Sept. 20.—Mrs. Clifton R. Hunn, wife of a wealthy Chicago business man, is dead here, the victim, police say, of an ex-convict she once befriended, and who last night returned her kindness by beating her brains out with a hammer, shooting her through the heart and looting her apartments of gems valued at $20,000.

The man sought as Mrs. Hunn's slayer is Harry Connor, alias Harry Garbutt, who, according to detectives was released from an Illinois penitentiary through her influence, after serving part of a sentence for robbery and who was aided with her money to start life anew leaving his cell.

F. R. Gibson, a cousin of the slain woman was in the apartment when Connor called late yesterday and was invited to stay for dinner.

He told police the ex-convict without warning locked him in the bathroom and then turned on his hostess and killed her.

Gibson said he finally managed to escape from the bathroom by crawling out of a window and dropping to the ground but reached the front door only in time to find Mrs. Hunn's body on the threshold and see her slayer fleeing down the street.

His story was corroborated by Virginia Hunn, eight year old adopted daughter of the murdered victim, who witnessed the killing.

SEVERAL LIVES ARE LOST IN TORNADO

(Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—Property damage from the tornado which struck Hot Springs, Ark., late yesterday was estimated at $700,000, said a report received here today by the Southwestern Bell Telephone company from its division manager at Little Rock.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 20.—Five persons were injured in the storm which struck the towns of Annapolis, Hogan and Leadanna in southwest Missouri late yesterday according to a dispatch today from Poplar Bluff, which stated also that unconfirmed report there was that two persons had been killed at Hogan.

Wire communication between Poplar Bluff and the stricken area still was interrupted today and only meager reports of the storm damage had been received.

MAIN STREET HAS THE APPEARANCE OF A RIVER WHILE

Unprecedented Rains Fall In Southern Part of County

PAN AMERICAN TRAIN DELAYED

Damages To Matured Crops Declared Likely

HARTSELLE, Ala., Sept. 20.—Special.—Following an unprecedented rain which continued for two hours Friday night, twenty-five stores were flooded to a depth of from six inches to two feet of water, and the damage to stocks of merchandise is estimated to be from five thousand dollars upward.

Main street, west of the railroad, had the appearance of a river, and water was rushing through some of the stores in a swift current. Town Branch which runs diagonally through town, was spread out over a wide area, and the culverts through which the water was to pass was not sufficient to carry it off.

Water was running across the Louisville and Nashville tracks north of the depot, and the Pan American lost about two hours here waiting for the tracks to clear. Water was two feet over the track at this point.

This flood, according to many, is the worst in the history of this section, it raining without ceasing for two hours, accompanied by heavy thunder and vivid lightning. Hail came at intervals also.

Messrs. C. C. Doss, J. H. Corabie Hardware and Furniture Co., R. W. Puckett and W. T. Stewart suffered greater damage than others, as their business houses were directly in the path of the stream.

It is also estimated that the damage to matured crops in this section is also great. Flint creek is out of its banks and the lowlands are flooded, and much corn will be damaged very materially.

GEOLOGIST PRAISES MORGAN ASPHALT

Morgan County people are greatly pleased at the report made here Saturday on the asphalt deposits near the Twin Cities by Dr. George H. Clark assistant state geologist who was here en route to consult with mining experts in Kentucky.

Dr. Clark stated that his findings of silica rock asphalt were of a very superior character. He said the local deposits were equal to the best, and had so proven on the strip of road near the Twin Cities built out of the local asphalt. The great rain storm Friday night did not damage the asphalt deposits near Florence and praised them highly. He was shown over the local asphalt mine by Paul Davis, local manager of the Southern Asphalt company. Dr. Clark said that soon he would publish an official bulletin, setting forth the high class of asphalt in Morgan and nearby counties.

The big surprise. My financial troubles will soon be over. How? See me and I will tell you how you may soon be relieved of all your financial worries. If you have a mortgage on your home or farm I will show you in a very short time how it can be lifted. To the boy or girl who wishes to go to college but cannot because papa is not able I will show you how you can send them. You will be surprised how you can do all these things on such small amounts. Now this is no idle dream for I am dealing in proven facts, just see who has proven it too, people prominent in Albany that you know. Just as soon as they saw what I had they didn't hesitate a minute. What would you say if I said I could pay you 100 per cent a month dividends on every dollar invested? Surely you will investigate and see if I am dealing in facts.

I prove all I have said then turn away from it. All I ask is that you see me and you will be convinced that by a few dollars you can be relieved of your financial troubles. This is the chance of a lifetime to the man or woman of limited means or to the man or woman of wealth for that matter. If you fail to give me a chance to prove all I have said then blame yourself. When you see your friends take advantage of the golden opportunity and now living on the sunny side of financial success, blame yourself for not taking advantage. Answer "Success" P. O. Voice of People

Dear Sir:—

Editor Albany-Decatur Daily.

As president of the Kiwanis club I desire to issue an appeal of the citizens of Albany and Decatur for school books and funds with which to purchase school books, and even clothing for children of the two cities whose parents are unable to supply these necessities. I am informed by Prof. Cowart of the Albany schools and Prof. Benson of the Decatur schools that a number of children have already entered school and are without books; that perhaps a larger number of these unfortunate children remain out of school for lack of clothing and books. This call is urgent and it is hoped that every citizen will respond liberally and promptly and let us see if we cannot supply these worthy children with books and clothing. You are helping to build a better citizenship.

A list of brought over school books usable this year is furnished herewith and every parent is requested to look thru the book shelves at home and see how many of these can be supplied from that source, then add some cash to your book contribution. All books and cash contributions should be turned over promptly to Mr. Randolph at the Y. M. C. A. or to Mr. Clopton at the Decatur Creamery. Later the Daily will be furnished for publication the result of this effort.

Love that brings sorrow is better than a loveless existence that brings an empty happiness.

Berlin reports the German waist line is shrinking. Dispatches fall whether the cause is less beer or less food.

Living in a New York apartment house seems to be about as safe as staging a wrestling match with a can of dynamite.

"Darn it. If a man likes classical music, his friends think he is a liar," says The Birmingham News. Generally his friends are right, at that.

Good Fortune could not pick a finer time than the present to send the price of cotton up. We risk the charge of political treason by asserting that given 30 cent cotton this fall, the average voter in the Valley wouldn't give a whoop who gets the presidency.

The unexpected brings much of the joy of living; but anxiety and fear are always being aroused lest some real or imaginary evil befall.

It were better to recognize at once that the future is covered and cannot be known. It is a blessing we cannot know the future and we should accept it as such.

Since we cannot even guess what is in the future no wrong is done if the habit is formed of looking for pleasurable happenings. If such should not be the case, nothing is lost, and besides the dread and worry of thinking of coming evils is never felt.

It is for human beings to meet every issue as it comes, but to leave the determination of most things to a power higher than our own.

But however well we may manage our thinking, however well we may get along within—with our own selves, human companionship is needed.

It is said the wisest and most perfect people get very tired of their own company. When courage is at a low ebb, and when it appears that we might despair, what is better than the cheerfulness and courage of a friend. His bravery makes his friends brave. It is true that in a very large sense our happiness or misery comes from within. The kingdom of happiness is within us, but all normal people long for companionship—the "clay of the earth whence we were made yearns to its fellow clay."

When surrounded with congenial associates, the future does not worry us so much, anxiety and fear for what a day may bring forth vanishes away.

The current report that Gadsden will soon have a two million dollar cotton mill brings into prominence again, the certain future Alabama has as an industrial and manufacturing state. In the first place, this state's climate is longed for by thousands of people who now live elsewhere. The spirit and purpose of Alabamians, when they become known, and as they are more and more becoming known as the months pass, suits thousands of people who wish to live in company with a friendly and progressive people.

The natural resources of the forest and the are becoming appreciated as never before. In the electrical age which is just dawning, Alabama's water power, is destined to make the state of "here we rest" one of the busiest and richest states of the forty-eight.

A timely reference was made to Alabama as an ideal state for factories recently by former State Senator H. S. Doster of Prattville, in an address to the twelfth annual convention of the southeastern division of the National Electric Light Association, held in Birmingham. Mr. Doster said in part:

"When we reach the stage of co-operation, there will come really big things in the way of development and advancement of the state of Alabama.

"Co-operation between the public and the utilities is necessary for the advancement of the state. This can only come when the organization and have gained the confidence of the public.

"Public utilities are regarded as giants. The public is afraid of the giant's strength. But, through a fine organization, the public will come to realize that the giant really is subservient to the public and actually is controlled by the public.

"The development of electric resources through the exploitation of water power will make electric current available to farmers and to the small communities. Not only will these towns and villages be permitted to enjoy the added conveniences, but the power makes possible the construction of factories and other manufacturing plants."

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS

For the Sabbath and Other Days

By J. E. Blair

In Bunyan's allegory, Pilgrim sees fierce lions in the distance, but when he came close to them they were chained away from him. In other words, no outward thing can destroy anyone's personality. To some minds it makes no difference whether or not its fire was literal, when the fiery furnace received these fine young men called the "Hebrew children," their owners are so carried away with the thought that Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego were delivered because of faith in one near them "like unto the Son of God." In passing be it remembered that moderns will be saved by faith in that same Son of God. "Outward things can destroy nothing worthwhile?" No. On the other hand outward hindrances are stepping stones to higher things in the world of personality. International "Y" Secretary F. M. M. Richardson expressed such a belief, when recently he told of how Robinson Crusoe, was delivered by the very things that seemed about to destroy him. Crusoe, saw cannibals, according to Mr. Richardson, and thought they would make a meal off of him; but instead he got great Friday from among the cannibals. Crusoe saw the ships that returned him to civilization and thought they would take him to destruction. What we just "think" don't change facts. A man in delirium sees snakes, but there are no snakes. It is in ourselves that we see "a lion without" and think "I shall be slain the way." It is in ourselves that we see hell bent ships instead of heaven-bound barques. It is in ourselves that we see snakes instead of angels. It is "in ourselves that we are underlings." John Bunyan did not write Pilgrim's Progress, just to be doing. He wrote it to teach great lessons. The Bible writer did not tell about the salvation of the Hebrew young men, just to write history. Secretary Richardson did not tell about Crusoe just to entertain. These ideas are not being written just "to get them off the chest" of the writer. Every person who has tried to write the truth did so, seeking to get some—as many as possible to SEE the truth—and not just the truths written, but the truths suggested—and all truth. Everyone quoted desired to show that "man's extremity is God's opportunity," and to encourage all to believe that "in due season we shall reap, IF we faint not." Just as Pilgrim saw the lions were chained away from him; so it is equally true because Christ said it: "My yoke is easy and My burden is light." Those who believe right will never triumph, are just like Pilgrim, just like Crusoe, and just like those who don't believe the Hebrew children were saved. Such have eyes but are too nearsighted, they have minds but never use them not aright they have ears, but faint at the sound of the Master's voice saying: "Follow Me."

Hartselle News

Mrs. B. S. Stover has returned from Benevolent hospital where she underwent an operation several days ago. She is rapidly improving, which is indeed gratifying to her many friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McDaniel left for Birmingham Friday for the purpose of seeing a specialist with a view of an operation for Mr. McDaniel.

Henry Hughes of Huntsville was in Hartselle Friday in the interest of the wholesale grocery house which he represents out of Nashville, Tenn.

R. L. Sherrill spent Friday at Cullman in the interest of the brokerage lines carried by him.

Ed Heffner of Decatur was in Hartselle Friday representing Brock and Spight wholesale grocery dealers of Decatur.

Prof. J. H. Riddle was elected as superintendent of the First Methodist Sunday school for the ensuing conference year, the nomination being made by the pastor Rev. R. W. Anderson, his election being made by the official board of the church, composed of the stewards and trustees. The selection of Mr. Riddle was made at a session of the quarterly conference which convened at the church last Thursday night, presided over by the presiding elder W. P. McGlawn of Decatur.

Fine rains have come to this section during the week, and it is stated that they will be of inestimable value to the late cotton crop. Cotton it is thought will not be benefitted by the late moisture.

Miss Annie Johnson daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Johnson, returned home Thursday after spending at Benevolent hospital in Albany, where an operation for appendicitis was performed. Her many friends are glad she is improving so rapidly.

Leldon R. Tapscott, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tapscott of Falkville was in Hartselle Thursday. Mr. Tapscott has recently graduated at Auburn, and has recently formed a connection with Mr. T. J. Lampkin, state organizer of Baptist Young People's Associations, as his assistant in the work. Mr. Tapscott is a fine young fellow, earnest and consecrated and will make a valuable assistant in the work in which he is just now engaging.

Miss Aileen Sherrill left Tuesday morning for Marion Alabama and will enter Judson College. Miss Sherrill is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leldon Sherrill and graduated from the Morgan County high school last term.

Henry Sherrill of Birmingham is home for a few days. Mr. Sherrill has been with the Internal Revenue department at Birmingham for some time.

Several officials of the Louisville and Nashville railroad with headquarters at Birmingham were here Thursday making an inspection of their properties here. They were in consultation with some of the city officials here looking toward the enlarging of the public square by reducing the size of the railroad park north of the depot. It is the purpose of the city authorities ultimately to open up the street just west of the freight depot and parallel with the railroad running south to a point near the ball park, thence west to the Bee Line highway.

MRS. J. M. WITT AN HONOREE

On the afternoon of Sept. 9, 1924, the hospitable home of Mrs. Fred O. Sherrill was thrown open, and a number of friends and relatives of Mrs. J. M. Witt, a native of Alabama, but now of Waco, Texas, assembled to do her honor.

Flowers peeped from every nook and corner, lending their beauty and fragrance to the occasion. After many smiles and much handshaking, all were seated, and a pleasant hour was spent in happy reminiscences. "Lest we forget" a ledger was requested to register, using her maiden name in connection with the one she assumed at the marriage altar.

After registration the guests repaired to the lawn where a snap-shot picture was made, a copy of which will be presented by Mrs. Witt to each one with a request that they be kept as a souvenir of the occasion.

Back to the living room the guests were entertained with music, both new and old. As the guests listened to "Silver Threads among the Gold" and "Maggie," their thoughts turned back to the days when they were girls with out a care. Mrs. Sherrill sang "Consider the Lillies" which was indeed an inspiration, as little Miss Frances Lee and Master Fred Sherrill passed by leaving a napkin in the hand of each guest, they thought how beautifully childhood could be used to serve ago.

Then came the eating, appetizing that not a crumb was left. By request Mrs. Witt arose and in her gentle dignified manner spoke feelingly of her remembrance of, and love for her long life-long friends and of how distance could never sever that love. The list of her remarks may be summed up in the following lines: "There are the friends that to me were so dear, long, long ago, long ago."

They are the ones that my heart used to cheer, long ago."

Other talks were made and not a few eyes were dim at the recollection of fond associations.

After singing "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" good byes were said and each departed, carrying with them the remembrance of an afternoon never to be forgotten. The following are the names of those present: Mesdames, Mattie Ferguson Witt, Leona Woodall Boger, Callie Woodall Barclift, Mary Penn Hogan, Yetta Sabotka Kent, Talitha York Sherrill, Emily Hargrove Lindsey, Ellen Hardwick Orr, Carrie Sabotka Lee, Mattie Hardwick Stewart, Minnie Echols Puckett, Alice Key Oden, Mollie Moore Turney, Maud Boger Day, Lillie Hogan Hanes, Ora Sherrill Lovelady, Mary Alice Boger Crittendon, Sibbie Williams Waldsmith, Nell Barclift Sherrill, Lucia Barclift Lee, Miss Frances Carolyn Lee, Fred Oscar Sherrill, Jr.

Bert Lytell, star of "The Meanest Man in the World," which comes to the Princess theater Monday and Tuesday comes to the front and tells us what, in his estimation, is the true definition of meanness.

"It's stealing the other fellow's laugh," says Lytell. "To spoil a laugh for anybody is, in my opinion, one of the meanest things a fellow can do.
 Laughter is one of the most important items in the happiness of this world. What would the world be without a smile and laugh!"

"Yes siree! the chap that comes along and prevents a laugh or even the semblance of a smile is a mean one and I'm going to endeavor to keep as many laughs in existence as possible."

MANY of the original Anchor Hot Blast Heaters—built twenty years ago—are still in daily use, and according to claims of their owners, improving with age. Frankly, we consider this remarkable, yet we find a source of pride in the fact that the same high quality of material and workmanship is a distinguishing mark of the Anchor today, and that our original construction principles have never been improved upon. However, a marked improvement in the appearance of this heater has been made. Its lines are graceful and beautiful. Accept our invitation to come in and inspect the Anchor Hot Blast.

WHY GO TO CHURCH?

"In our last Sunday School lesson, September 14, it is said: 'As His custom was He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day.' Christians follow Christ's example when Christians attend church. SYNOPSIS

Sir Oliver Tressilian, renowned for his exploits on the Spanish Main, is betrothed to Rosamund Godolphin; but because of personal enmity growing out of land disputes the marriage is opposed by both Rosamund's brother, Peter, and her guardian, Sir John Killigrew. After his defeat by Sir Oliver in a duel Sir John's antagonism is somewhat lessened, whereas Peter becomes increasingly more venomous. Sir Oliver, riding to Helston one day, stops at a smithy to have his horse reshod. He is conversing with Sir Andrew Flack, the parson, and Justice Baine, a group of rustics gathered about, when down the slope rides Peter Godolphin.

It was said afterward by Sir Andrew and Master Baine that Master Peter appeared to have been carousing, so flushed was his face, so unnatural the brightness of his eye, so thick his speech and so extravagant and foolish what he said. He was of those who turn quarrelsome in wine—which is but another way of saying that when the wine was in and the restraint out, his natural humor came uppermost untrammelled. The sight of Sir Oliver standing there gave the lad precisely what he needed to indulge that evil humor of his, and he may have been quickened in his purpose by the presence of those other gentlemen. In his half-fuddled state of mind he may have recalled that once he had struck Sir Oliver and Sir Oliver had laughed and said that he would believe it.

He drew rein suddenly as he came abreast of the group, so suddenly that he pulled his horse until it almost sat down like a cat; yet he retained his saddle. Then he came through the snow that was all squelched and muddled just about the forge, and leered at Sir Oliver.

"I am from Arwenack," he announced unnecessarily. "We have been talking of you."

"You could have had no better subject of discourse," said Sir

Oliver, smiling, for all that his eyes were hard and something scared—though his fears did not concern himself.

"Marry, you are right; you make an engrossing topic—you and your debauched father."

"Sir," replied Sir Oliver, "once already have I deplored your mother's utter want of discretion."

The words were out of him in a flash under the spur of the gross insult flung at him, uttered in the momentary blind rage aroused by that inflamed and taunting face above him. No sooner were they spoken than he repeated them, the more bitterly because they were greeted by a guffaw from the rustics. He would have given half his fortune in that moment to have recalled them.

Master Godolphin's face had changed as utterly as if he had removed a mask. From flushed that it had been it was livid now and the eyes were blazing, the mouth twitching. Thus a moment he glowered upon his enemy. Then standing in his stirrups he swung aloft his whip.

"You dog!" he cried, in a snarling sob. "You dog!" And his lash came down and cut a long red wheel across Sir Oliver's dark face."
